Sak Saum, Inc

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Sak Sakum is a ministry dedicated to the rescue, restoration, transformation and rehabilitation of men and women in Cambodia that are vulnerable and have been exploited. They are a self-sustaining ministry that not only provides a safe place for those rescued to grow, but also teaches them how to sew. The work they do is supported by the selling of these goods all across the globe.

Sak Sakum offers a wide variety of product for women including apparel, bags and wallets. They provide everything from neutral staples to brightly patterned pieces.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

The founders of Elegantees are particularly stricken by the women in Nepal that are so impoverished they are forced to sell their bodies. The brand started in New York with the intention of contributing profits to fight human trafficking, but now actually works on the ground to actively fight for the freedom of the ladies in Nepal. Elegantees offers an option for women that have been rescued from trafficking to not go back, but to instead hold a dignified job that helps them regain their worth as a human and also keeps them free.

Elegantees offers various styles for women that are both trendy and classic. They also have little girl dresses that match with some of the women's dresses which means: "mommy and me" matching!

BEAUTIFUL PRODUCTS BY WOMEN WHO HAVE OVERCOME

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

ABLE manufactures their products in impoverished communities with the goal of putting an end to generational poverty. They seek to create jobs and eliminate dependency on charity.

The system they have created ensures that they provide only top-notch factory environments. They are transparent about the working conditions they offer in their factories, volunteering themselves to be accountable to customers on ethical standards.

They offer clothing, jewelry and shoes that rival their big business competitors.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Joyn bags are meticulously and marvelously made by a beautiful team of artisans that each play a pivotal role. The block makers hand-carve the designs, while the color makers mix the dyes and paints and fabric makers spin and weave the cotton. From there, the print makers use the block designs to stamp the cotton fabric and bag makers cut and sew to produce the item that is checked for quality before it is sent out to you! You can find photos, names and information for each artisan that makes up these groups on Joyn's website.

Joyn is a part of the Fair Trade Federation, meaning that they provide fair, liveable wages and working environments for their employees. They are transparent about who makes their goods, how they are made and where they are made.

Joyn offers a beautiful, unique and ever-revolving collection of bags from wallets to weekenders. You may recognize them from some of our Fair Trade Friday boxes.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Krochet Kids works in poverty stricken regions of the world offering vulnerable women job opportunities with fair wages. They are passionate about education and believe in the power of connecting each consumer to the person who made their product. Each and every piece of their's has the name of the person who made it stitched inside, so that you can always remember and know who made your clothes.

They work closely with their partner and non-profit, Capable, to ensure, through constant data recording, that their efforts are actually making a positive impact on the state of poverty.

They offer a wide range of pieces for women, men and children. They provide trendy styles in classic color palettes made from 100% organic cotton that is extremely soft to the touch.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Haiti Design Co. was established in 2014 and has since grown to be both a training and production center that has employed over 150 people! They provide consistent, dignified work for vulnerable individuals along with meals, health-care and the support of a family-like leadership team. They also work with artisans that hope to continue on as independent entrepreneurs.

Haiti Design Co. offers beautiful vegetable-tanned leather accessories for both men and women. While the selection for women is more expansive—including jewelry and home décor, the curated selection of men's accessories is not something to overlook. They currently have a selection of key fobs, wallets, and even a field-notes notebook holder.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

All of Glory Haus' linens are handmade at Daughters Of Hope, their fair trade factory in India. Their employees are given much more than a job, though a dignified, consistent job is more than what many of these women would have ever hoped for. The women at Daughters Of Hope are given health insurance, lunches, free childcare and lessons on things such as personal hygiene. Though many of the women came to Daughters Of Hope impoverished and uneducated, all are now professional tailors whose products are sold nationwide via glory haus.

Glory Haus has also partnered with MUST ministries to create an artisan workroom in the United States: Repurposed on Purpose. All of the products from this collection are handmade by women who have been rescued and are now transitioning out of difficult situations. Glory Haus offers an expansive collection of home and holiday décor. Repurposed on Purpose provides beautiful leather accessories for women.

IMANI COLLECTIVE

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Imani Collective “started with 16 women looking for a better way to provide for their families” and now employs over 50 Kenyan men and women in addition to employing six women stateside.

They believe that within each person is greatness and that beautiful things can be created when people are empowered and given the opportunity.

One of their most beloved items at our barn is their animal pillow, which is available in unicorn and raccoon among others. These pillows are made of natural canvas and are both sewn and screen printed by local artisans.

They offer possibly the cutest pillows that have ever been created (and will happily overtake your children’s rooms) along with other curated, handmade home décor. They also have donations for training and meals for their employees available as items that can be added to your cart while shopping online.

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

The founders of Tegu wanted to answer the question, "Could we create a for-profit company based in Honduras that would foster a positive social impact through its business?" They have found that the answer is yes!

Tegu pays each of their employees a living wage and encourages long-term career growth. They also only use wood that has been handpicked by local Honduran cooperatives to ensure sustainability.

Tegu believes that playing and learning can coexist and have created magnetic, wooden blocks that enable children to create just about anything they can think of. Much more versatile than other products on the market, these blocks were designed especially for the hands of a child and with each block fitting with one another.

THISTLE FARMS™

WHY YOU CAN LOVE IT

Thistle Farms has been healing, empowering and employing women for 20 years. They have a residential program in Nashville, Tennessee that offers complimentary shelter, medical care, education and job training for women in need. Thistle Farms is able to host up to 32 women in this program and serves hundreds more through advocacy and referral services.

All of their Body & Home products are handmade by the women in Nashville and their Thistle Farms Global collection is handmade by women all around the world. Through their share trade model, they are able to increase the profits that their artisans receive for what they have produced.

Thistle Farms boasts a wide variety of self-care luxuries such as oils and bath scrubs. They also are an ethical source for items that every household needs, such as bars of soap.
